A message from Rabbi Rick Kellner

The other day Debra told me she had to run to Barnes and Noble to pick up a book she had placed on hold for Zoe. Zoe's principal, Ms. Allie Seiling recommended this book for Zoe because it shares a powerful message. The name of the book is Most People, written by Michael Leannah and Jennifer E. Morris.

Following the antisemitic attack at the Tree of Life synagogue in Pittsburgh, I found myself speaking with so many people, including parents of young children, about how to explain what had happened. Numerous people had shared with me their concern for personal safety and their lack of faith in humanity over the hatred directed at Jews. When asked, "What do I tell my children?," I responded, "It's important that they know that most people do not hate us. Most people are good at heart."

In the wake of the dual terror attack in the mosques in Christchurch, New Zealand, the same questions surfaced in my mind. My concern is for our Muslim brothers and sisters and their feelings of insecurity in a world where Islamophobia causes them concerns for their personal safety. To them, I want to share this message that most people are good at heart.

In Anne Frank's diary, she wrote, "It's really a wonder that I haven't dropped all my ideals, because they seem so absurd and impossible to carry out. Yet I keep them, because in spite of everything, I still believe that people are really good at heart." How is it that we can grow and nurture this value in ourselves and bring it to light for others?

I firmly believe that the answer is in the Torah. When I pass the Torah to our Bar and Bat Mitzvah students, I share with them some variation of the following words: "This scroll contains the teachings of our people's lives. Its message is love and justice, goodness and hope. Freedom is its gift to all who treasure it. We entrust to you to carry through our congregation today but also, just as important to carry upon your heart each and every day bringing its lessons to the world around you."

We have the potential to be the light that our darkened world needs. Acts of terror and hatred surround us. The bullies, those who harbor hate, those who do violence, are not most people. Their actions may seem louder but as Most People teaches us: most people want to help others when they see someone crying or in trouble; most people want to smile at you; most people want to make a difference.

I hope you will share this book with your children or grandchildren, and believe it or not, share it with yourselves, too! Sometimes adults need to read a simple message designed to reach the hearts and minds of young people.

I also hope you will make it a priority to join us for Mitzvah Day on Sunday, April 7. You can find details on pg. 2 (@left).

It is a day when we will make a difference for countless lives across our city. If you cannot make it to Mitzvah Day, every day gives us an opportunity to live and learn Jewishly and make the world a better place.

Find an opportunity to donate tzedakah, volunteer at a local food pantry, or since spring is arriving, volunteer to clean up a local park.

We know how to make a difference. We are "Most People!"

L'Shalom,

Rabbi Rick Kellner

Columbus Board of Rabbis - Yom HaShoah Observance on May 3 at 12 p.m.

Join us for the 34th Annual Columbus Yom Hashoah Observance & Holocaust Remembrance at City Hall. Holocaust survivor Dr. Al Miller will speak of his memories of childhood friends joining the Hitler Youth and wearing uniforms with pride, then cutting him out of their lives for being Jewish. As conditions became worse for the Jews of Berlin, his family sent him to Switzerland, while his brother was sent to England. His parents remained in Germany, enduring Kristallnacht and hiding in a friend's home. The family would eventually reunite in England before immigrating to America. # A Letter from the President

April brings us a busy month, but maybe not quite as hectic as last month. April 19 is our annual tradition: the congregational First Night Seder.

Passover Traditions

Passover is one of the three pilgrimage festivals of the Jewish calendar when Jews traveled to Jerusalem with plant offerings. This holiday is one of the great celebrations of Jewish family life. Rabbi Kellner says he gets more phone calls from people worrying about “getting things right” for this holiday than any others.

Many families still empty the house of chametz or leavening, and a few still sell their chametz products to non-Jews. But for most of us, it is a time of gathering friends and family (biological, chosen, or Temple) to celebrate our liberation from bondage. We tell the stories that bind us together as a community, eat matzah, and sing songs that our families have sung for generations.

Surprisingly, the impact of this holiday is growing as churches encourage their members to host Seders or even host them as a community. My stepmother, who isn't Jewish, proudly and excitedly showed me the Haggadah her Protestant congregation used for a Seder. That Haggadah was decidedly Protestant, not Jewish.

But celebrating freedom is always a good thing. And recognizing that this important tradition was developed by Jews is also a good thing as are the opportunities to take note of those who are still not free and to consider what modern mental and physical slavery looks like. I hope to see you at Beth Tikvah's Congregational Seder on April 19.

Mitzvah Day

April 7 is Mitzvah Day, one of my favorite congregational activities. Mitzvah Day requires us to think about the needs of others. Our community works together to contribute concretely to the welfare of others. Our challenge is not to regard Mitzvah Day as a once and done event, but to realize that focusing on the needs of others and bettering the world should be an ongoing project.

Beth Tikvah participates in BREAD, Reform Ohio, our tutoring projects with Como and Hamilton schools; runs a Civil Discourse project; and supports our congregants with our Caring Community committee. There are myriad ways we can make helping others an ongoing activity in our lives.

Projects in the Works

We're beginning to send out our Shabbat Prayer Books for repair. The initial bindings of Mishkan T'Filah weren't strong enough, and CCAR Press is offering to repair the bindings for 99 cents per book. We send 50 books at a time, so it will take awhile to get to all the ones in need of repair.

Also in the works: Rabbi Kellner has begun meeting with some of our interfaith families to explore developing special programs that support them as they navigate congregational life.

Security

One of the most effective, and cheapest, security measures we can take is to have greeters at the front door each Shabbat, from various age groups. We need greeters who can recognize their fellow congregants. Please step up to help even if you weren't asked to do so in advance. Being welcoming means recognizing and greeting our members and welcoming and kindly checking on those we don't know. These two aspects are truly the intersection of being welcoming and providing security.

Finally, my office hours are Sunday, April 7 – Mitzvah Day. Look for me in the Temple, amid the flurry of activity and volunteering!

A Note about Education

Religious School students making Mishloach Manot for Purim

Our Religious School classes have been busy! In February, we observed Jewish Disabilities Awareness, Acceptance & Inclusion Month (JDAIM) by using a special curriculum developed by the Matan Institute. Matan educates Jewish leaders, educators and communities, empowering them to create learning environments supportive of children with special needs, through training Institutes and consultations across North America. I was blessed to undergo training through Matan in 2016. We welcomed Matan to Columbus for Community Educator Day in 2017, where our teachers had the opportunity to learn with this incredible institution. Let's see what else our classes have been up to this year!

Lili Graver, Pre-K: We learned about Purim, mitzvot and good deeds. Our class continues to learn about Shabbat, enjoying Hebrew Through Movement lessons with HaMoreh Daniel, and music with Julie Sapper.

Ilene Burkart, Kindergarten: This past month has been busy! We heard stories and had discussions about being inclusive with our friends through our special all-school curriculum for JDAIM. We also read stories, saw a video and did crafts related to Purim.

Jane Mitchell & Dora Sterling, 1st Grade: The "little" kids who arrived in the fall have grown significantly this year. Developmentally, being Jewish is no longer reduced to a holiday treat or a picture book story of long ago and far away. These kids truly avow that being Jewish is acting in a manner with special purpose. Being Jewish embodies values, beliefs, traditions, culture, homeland, Hebrew and living joyfully.

Stephanie Stillman & Abby Ophir, 2nd Grade: Our class has been having a lot of fun getting to know Abby, our new teaching assistant. We delve into the study of blessings, and learning more specifically about the different blessings for food.

Gisela Weinstein, 3rd Grade: This year our curriculum has been mostly learning all the different rules of Judaism, and that there are rules for almost everything. We also learned when it is okay to break the rules, linking it to the story of Purim, and how Queen Esther broke the rules to save the Jewish people.

Leigh Zircher, 4th Grade: For Purim, we acted out a play and did improv games. We learned the story of David and Goliath and played "Pin the rock on Goliath's Head." For Jacob and Esau: Jacob tricked the very hairy Esau out of his birthright for some soup!

Alisa Swissa, 5th Grade: Most of our recent efforts involved preparing for our student-led Family Shabbat service, which was amazing. I'm so proud of each student and all the hard work that went into making our service meaningful. We had the privilege of participating in a live video chat with author Steve Sheinkin, where students were able to ask questions about a graphic novel they received as a gift from PJ Library/PJ Our Way.

Brad Rozen, 6th Grade: We continued engaging the students to explore what it means to be Jewish. Highlights include: Playing a game of JewParty – testing the kids on their knowledge on a wide range of categories in a Jeopardy knock-off. Corey Washer taught them the 39 Melachot, and how it is related to the Shabbat AND the mishkan; they even built a model mishkan. We also connected how many Jewish holidays deal with Jewish persecution and intolerance (Purim, Passover, Yom Hashoah, Channukah). Then we identified Prophets - many of whom were reluctant and went through phases: Command, No Way, Speak, Too Difficult.

We can't wait to celebrate Passover this April and learn even more as the year comes to a close on May 5! Join us then for a weekend with singer-songwriter, Alan Goodis!

Youth Engagement at Beth Tikvah

Greetings and happy spring, everyone!

Working at Beth Tikvah has given me the opportunity to meet and work with some remarkable teens. I am truly grateful to work alongside this year's BethTY Co-Presidents: Micah Burkart and Hannah Karr. These young leaders have gone above and beyond in planning, recruiting, and keeping BethTY and its fun, monthly programs exciting and engaging.

These young women have done an outstanding job creating a welcoming, inclusive, and warm space for our teens at Beth Tikvah.

Last month, I gave BethTY Co-President Hannah Karr a chance to share her insights after a year of helping to lead our BethTY teens. This month, it's BethTY Co-President Micah Burkart's turn to share her thoughts.

Reflections on BethTY Leadership - By Micah Burkart

Micah Burkart, BethTY Co-President

proud and honored to be able to look at this amazing group and know that BethTy will be in great hands in the future.

I am beyond thankful to Beth Tikvah, NFTY, and the URJ for giving not only me, but hundreds of other teens across the country a way to become leaders in their communities and work to become their most authentic selves. As my senior year quickly approaches, I am taking in all of the lessons and skills that NFTY has given me, while I look to the future.

Here are just a few of the things that NFTY has taught me: First, always be yourself. The number one thing that NFTY has gifted me is a place where I can be my most authentic self. No matter who that may be NFTY welcomes me with open and loving arms and encourages me to greatness.

Secondly, NFTY has shown me I have a voice, and it deserves to be heard. We are each valid individuals with opinions, thoughts, and concerns.

NFTY and the URJ have given me, and thousands of other Jewish teens, a place and a way to share how we feel and help us use our words to make change in the world.

Third, NFTY gave me a place where I could grow and learn as a leader. I was shown in NFTY that a good leader isn't always the person who speaks the loudest or bosses everyone around. But a good leader is someone who is truly themselves and encourages and enables others to do the same.

In all, what I have gained over my years growing as a Jewish adult is that all you can really do to plan for the future is try your best, be yourself, follow your heart and leave the rest to G-D.

I leave you with the words that Elle Woods told us when she graduated from Harvard Law (in the movie Legally Blonde) that I live by everyday, "You must always have faith in people, and, most importantly you must always have faith in yourself."

“These young leaders have gone above and beyond in planning, recruiting, and keeping BethTY and its fun, monthly programs exciting and engaging.”

Shalom, everyone!
As my term as BethTY Co-President comes to an end, I am able to look back and reflect on the year that we had.

When I started in BethTY my freshman year, we had all of about four people in our youth group. Now, I can look and see our kehillah kadosha ("Holy Community") growing at an exponential rate. I'm so

Thanks to Volunteers, Entrants, Sponsors & Guests, Souper Bowl Raised $12K+ to Send Kids to Camp

Thank you to everyone who made our B'nai Mitzvah Souper Bowl XIII a milestone to remember! The event drew over 400 people who sampled chicken and non-chicken soup, then voted to determine the best soup in Columbus. The Souper Bowl professional category winner for their matzo ball chicken soup was newcomer Harvey & Ed's. Jill Armstrong, Harvey & Ed's General Manager, said: "We were interested in the 'Souper Bowl' because we are a new store and saw it as a great opportunity to get involved with the community and have some fun." Professional entrant Cameron's American Bistro won first place in the non-chicken soup category with a gluten-free cauliflower soup. For amateurs, Matthew Belasco won for best chicken soup, his third year in a row. Mark Siegal won first place with his non-chicken soup recipe for "Summer in February" corn chowder. Proceeds from the Cook-Off provide scholarships for the Jewish Camp Fund. $12,000+ was raised to help send 25 Beth Tikvah kids to camp this summer! Cans of soup were collected from guests and donated to Holy Family Soup Kitchen. "Thanks to the support of the community and our sponsors, the 13th Anniversary 'Souper Bowl' was a big success," said Jeff Wasserstrom. "Plans are already underway to make next year's event—Souper Bowl 14—even better!" Contact Jeff to learn more at JeffWass@yahoo.com.

Growing in Wisdom

Shishim: Second Thursday Lunch & Learn

April 11 - 10:30 a.m. - 2 p.m.

Includes Lunch with reservation by noon on April 8

Fascinating Topics! Exciting Speakers! This April's include:

(11 a.m.) Are Crows Smarter Than You?

(1 p.m.) Documentary Movie: *Raise the Roof

At 11 a.m., Barbara Ray, Dublin's Nature Education Coordinator, will explain how crows can use tools, navigate crosswalks, and even help humans! Perhaps the American crow is smarter than you? They are certainly one of the most clever and curious animals in our midst with an immense capacity to evaluate and solve puzzles. Through exploring puzzles of our own we will have fun examining their intelligence.

At 1 p.m., we will watch the documentary film, Raise the Roof, which tells the story of the reconstruction of a lost 18th century synagogue. The film follows Rick & Laura Brown as they embark on a 10-year pursuit to reconstruct the elaborate roof and painted ceiling of the Gwozdziec synagogue which was destroyed by the Nazis.

At noon, members and guests can enjoy a delicious meal together: $12 for members, $15 for guests; reservations required. To reserve lunch, email Sally Stefano at sjms4772@gmail.com or call 614-436-4290 by noon April 8.

Sisters in Spirituality

Sisterhood News: New Gift Shop Items for all your Passover Needs!

We were happy to celebrate 30 years of "Women of the Wall" on March 8 with Rabbi Kellner, Julie Sapper, and our Shironim and Sisterhood participants. We had so much fun at the "Dinner with Your Sister" that we have a date set for the next one: May 1! Join the fun! Kick-off for WINGO 2019 planning coming soon!

Our Gift Shop now features specialty items for Passover, with many new items just arriving. We have spent hours searching the internet for beautiful and affordable Judaica from artists all over the world. We've done the work for you! Be sure to stop in soon - some items are selling as we unpack them! Our Gift Shop is open Sundays during Religious School and by appointment. For more info or to join Sisterhood, contact Rachel Lambermont at RachelLambermont@gmail.com.

Women of Reform Judaism Tzedakah Collective

Sunday, April 14, from 3-5 p.m.

at Temple Beth Shalom (5089 Johnstown Rd., New Albany)

The Women of Reform Judaism (WRJ) Central Ohio Tzedakah Collective will learn about the non-profit GROWLERS DOG BONES, which provides employment opportunities and teaches meaningful life skills for adults who are autistic or have other disabilities. Amy Nolttenmyer, founder and mother of an autistic young adult, will describe her motivation and mission to create a vocational training program for her son and others with disabilities. They really do make dog biscuits from donated microbrewery by-products! (Amy will bring some to sell!) All Reform Jewish women in Central Ohio are invited to attend!

The Tzedakah Collective is a women's philanthropy group that learns about the mission and needs of local nonprofits whose work is consistent with our Jewish values. Collectively, we determine how grant money is distributed. A tax-deductible donation of $60+ is all that is necessary to become a Tzedakah Collective member. Attendance at bi-monthly meetings isn't required - you can participate "virtually!" RSVP not required but helpful. Email marshapond@msn.com to learn more!

We Are the People of the (Story)Book

Resler Scholar-in-Residence
Weekend with Dr. Cantor Evan Kent
Friday, May 17 - Sunday, May 19
RSVP at tinyurl.com/ReslerWeekend2019

Friday, May 17 - Community Shabbat Dinner @ 6:15 p.m., Evening Service @ 7:15 p.m. followed by Lecture "Jews as Consummate Storytellers": Dr. Cantor Evan Kent will speak on how Jews are consummate storytellers. Our holidays, festivals, and celebrations are filled with stories. The Torah, Talmud, and Midrash are also full of stories used to inform and educate. Even the stories our grandmothers shared are vital in the transmission of culture and tradition. Evan will share with us the power and vitality of storytelling and how we can assure these important stories remain part of our heritage.

Saturday, May 18 at 10 a.m. - Shabbat Morning Torah Study with Bagels & Nosh

As part of our Saturday morning Torah study, Cantor Kent will share insights for this week's Parashah from the perspective of the sacred stories that are found not only in the Torah, but in the Midrash and the Talmud. How do the stories from the sages inform and enlighten our perspective on this week's Torah portion?

Saturday, May 18 at 7:30 p.m. - Features the performance of Shards: Putting the Pieces Together

Cantor Evan Kent will perform his one-man musical play for us, delighting us with his puppetry, songs, and stories, appropriate for ages 12+, as he tells the story of his grandparents' emigration from Europe to the U.S. in the early 20th century.

Sunday at 10:30 a.m. with Light Snacks - Chad Gad Yah: The Story of the Goat

Goats are famous in Jewish storytelling! We'll look at how one particular story about goats ("The Story of the Goat" by Shay Agnon) is told and retold across the generations. We will examine not only this story but the stories that constitute our own lives - how these tales are repeated differently and why this occurs. How can we hold onto our own life stories? How can we make our stories relevant and meaningful for our children and grandchildren?

SHARDS:
PUTTING THE PIECES TOGETHER

A Performance with
Cantor Evan Kent
Saturday, May 18 at 7:30 p.m.
Followed by Dessert Reception

“Shards” is a one-man musical written by Cantor Evan Kent. It is the story of his Aliyah to Israel and his grandparents’ emigration from Europe to the United States at the beginning of the twentieth century. The stories are interwoven – crossing generations, continents, and oceans. Suitable for children 12 and older, learn more at www.evankent.com. RSVP: tinyurl.com/ReslerWeekend2019.
